A FINE REPORT.

The Schools of Rockdale.

[From the Rockdale Register.]

CONYERS, Ga., January, 1875.

Mr. Editor: Below I give you a statement of the schools of Rockdale county for the year 1874, and ask that you publish the same for the benefit of all who are interested.

The success of our schools and the interests of education in our town and county seem to be outstripping the expectations of the most sanguine. The Conyers Female college and Conyers Male and Female high school are institutions of which any town might be proud.

These institutions of learning have made for themselves a good name in the educa-CONYERS, Ga., January, 1875.

The judge states: Most of those who were not killed, were taken prisoners. Fifteen or sixteen of the blacks had lifted the boards and taken refuge under the floor of the court house. They were all, however, captured. About twenty-seven men were taken prisoners. The number is not definitely fixed. They were kept under guard until dark, when at that time they were led out, two by two, and shot. Most of the men were shot to death, a few more wounded, not mortally, and by pretending to be dead were alterwards, during the hight, able to make their escape. Among them was the Levi Nelson named in the indictment. The dead bodies of the negroes killed in this affray were left unburied until Tues day, April 15th, when they were buried by a deputy marshal and an officer of the millitia from New Orleans. THE AIR-LINE RAILROAD.

If we devote a few lines daily to the above subject, indulgence is asked of our readers for it. There is no subject before our citizens at present of more importance or one more calculated to add to our prosperity. The committee having the matter in hand, on account of the miserable weather and the bad condition of the streets, have not been able to go about as much as they could desire, still subscriptions are being taken and the requisite amount will be made up. The committee, aside from the opinion that the amount will be raised, find much to encourage them. They find that building material here will not be expensive; that carpenter's work is not high; that it is a good market to purchase cotton in that operative labor is abundant and not high pricad; that the establishment of a factory will make us more of producers and less of consumers. There are other reasons why they feel encouraged, but we have only space to add that the necessary amount to build a cotton factory in our city will soor be raised.

The Child Mystery. The horrible mystery relative to the mutilated remains of a white child being found nearly devoured by dogs, still occupies the attention of our detectives. oung nearly devoured by dogs, sill couples the attention of our detectives.

We were informed yesterday that they had succeeded in tracing the matter back to the physician who was present at the birth of the child, but cannot youch for certain that the detectives have discovered something, but they were unwilling to give any facts lest it might interfere with them in bringing the guilty parties to justice. RICHELIEU.—One of the largest and most cultivated audiences that have assembled at Detive's opera house this season, greeted Mr. Lawrence Barrett last night. As the Cardinal Richelieu, he certainly exhibited a marvellous piece of acting from beginning to end, and aroused an extraordinary degree of enthusiasm. His conception of the character leaves nothing to the imagination of his hearers. It is the conception of an ardent student, intelligent, and attentive even to the finest detail. Where he has left him no weapon but the pen, and defines its power, he was grand; and where he draws the circle of the church around his Julie, and hurls the thunderbolts of Borne at his enemies, we have never seen it excelled. In fact, he created an interest throughout that was unabated, and his personation was greeted by frequent enthusiasm.

The false supposition that "Consumption is incurable" deterred physicians from attempting to find remedies for that disease, and patients affected with it reconciled themselves to death without making an effort to escape from a door which they supposed to be unavoidable. It is now prove, however, that Consumption can be cured and that it has been cured a very great number of cases (some of them apparently desperate ones) by Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup alone; and in other cases by the same medicine in connection with Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills, one or both, according to the requirements of the case.

That old and reliable paper, the Houston
Telegraph, which rarely condescends to notice individual enterprises, says of the First Drawing:

"Not even the most captious and suspecting person could take exceptions to the manner of the drawing. It was fair, honorable and equitable. The committee and recorders were of our very best clitzens, and kindly gave their time and labor to the sn perintendence of the drawing, or rather did the actual labor of it.

"Captain Foster has acted honorably and fairly throughout the whole management of this enterprise. While some money has been made by the venture in all probability yet the property given as prizes has only netted a fair price, and the profit is only an exchange of the property for cash."

That staunch democratic paper, the Houston Age, has the following:

"The Committee of gentlemen was one of the best that could have been selected by the audience. Hon. D. U. Barziza, who supervised the drawing, is our present rep resentative, and one of the most popular men in the district. men in the district.

"The Drawing was prefaced by an explanation from Captain Foster, of the mode adopted. This was well received and understood, precisely as explained by the circulars. Captain Foster said that while he wished all his home people good luck, he yet was free to say that with the people of poor Mississippi, Louisiana and South Cartinian he felt a greater sympathy and he distinct the property of the property of the present sympathy and he distinct the property of the present sympathy and he distinct the property of the present sympathy and he distinct the property of the present sympathy and he distinct the property of the present sympathy and he distinct the present sympathy and he distinc olina, he felt a greater sympathy, and he did hope they would draw the largest number of
